

The Hairy Scary Monster!

By Kithushan, age -7, class 2B, Wimbledon Chase Primary School

One day in a dirty, stinky place there was a big, green, hairy, scary monster, who was jolly, yet very lonely. He was lonely because he was left all alone when all the other monsters ran away when the Grabbers came and destroyed their habitat!

All that was left there now was the scary monster and a big, green palm tree that stood in a garden, where a little boy, called Ben, played every day.

Ben was lonely too. He had no siblings and no friends, so he always played ball in the garden, on his own. One sunny morning, Ben kicked his ball high up into the tall palm tree. He heard a strange sound, "Oouuwwch!"

"What is making that noise?" thought Ben.

Suddenly there was a huge thud and the big, green, hairy, scary monster had landed in the middle of Ben's garden!

"Aaaaarrgrh! A human has spotted me!" cried the monster.

At first Ben was very, very scared. But then the monster spoke quietly to him and explained that they could be very good friends and never be lonely, if they played together. So they did and from that day on they were the best of friends.

The end.
