

The Story of Moonshine

By Sonia, age 6, class 2b, Wimbledon Chase Primary School

Once upon a time, there lived a shy, little monster called Moonshine. He was a slave. He worked for an evil master. One day, his master was so mean and strict that Moonshine decided to pay him back for treating him and his friends this way. So he went to the joke shop! Unfortunately, he didn't have any money so he couldn't buy anything and had to unwillingly go back to work for his evil master. Then one day, he got an idea. He sneaked into the bathroom to get bubble bath and black shoe polish. He poured the bubble bath and shoe polish into the master's thermos flask. When the master was very thirsty, Moonshine gave the flask to him and the master gulped it down in one go!

Rather mysteriously, lots of big, black bubbles came out of the master's pointy snout!

"Oh no! Help me!" cried the master.

Moonshine said, "I will buy you some medicine if you give me some money." The master agreed but instead of medicine, Moonshine bought the chewing gum trick from the joke shop that she had wanted to get before.

"Here is your chewy medicine tablet," Moonshine said.

As the master tried to get the chewing gum medicine tablet out of the packet a powerful mousetrap caught his fingers.

"Oooooowwww!!!!" cried the master in great pain. While the master was distracted, hopping around with a mousetrap on his fingers, Moonshine and all of his friends escaped through the bathroom window. The plan worked and they all lived happily ever after.
