

News Transcript by Freddie 4C

What's up guys! Today we are live in the studio and from here we'll pass over to Jeffrey Necten, who is live in Australia with the latest report about the Iron man.

Hi guys ,as you can see, I'm in Australia and behind me is the nail biting battle field where the iron man fought for the earth, and he has won the war!

The world is celebrating with joy.

Fearfully, the battle began when the Iron Man challenged the dragon to a burning hot battle. First, the Iron Man lay on the scorching hot bed of fuel. As soon as the heat came on, he started to go pale then he jumped off the bed. "Your turn - lay on the sun," he said to the dragon. So that's what the Space Bat Angel Dragon did, until he was baking hot and it was intense.

He finally came back to earth. His wings were ragged and he landed with a thump. This time the crash knocked glasses over in New Zealand, he was so fast.

Just think how brave the Iron Man had to be, to lay on the burning hot bed of flames. His ears went red he started to melt but he did not give up.

Now today, the scaly Bat Angel Dragon is singing its weird song over the earth peacefully. So now the world is free from that hungry terror and we don't have to feed it literally all of our food on earth.

Back to the studio.