Dear Parents,

We are at the end of our third week of blended learning; thank you for all the help in supporting the children with their learning, we know how much there is to juggle when you are working from home as well.

Parent Feedback

The feedback that we have received from the parent survey and class reps has been very useful to help us keep developing the remote provision and the teachers enjoyed reading the positive feedback that was received. We also had a meeting this week with the class reps to discuss the remote provision and areas identified for us to look at. We will send the minutes of these meetings to the reps shortly so that they can share them with you.

Resources

A couple of the items requested by parents was to have all relevant documents and any guidance about remote learning in one place. You will now be able to find all the documents on our website under Parents/ Useful Information.

You will also find some guidance on uploading to Google Classrooms [including a link to a guidance video] as well as some information on Online Safety at home which has some handy tips for parents. I mentioned last week about some different ways that children could access their Google Classroom and a poster from Merton on this is also on the Useful Information page. We hope that you find these resources useful.

Finally

Teachers have really enjoyed seeing the children in the afternoon sessions this week and it has been really nice having whole classes back together again. Next week's theme is reciprocity; look out for the assemblies on this on Monday!

Below are a few reading resources that you may want to access at home.

Have a good weekend.

Best wishes

Mr K Ellis

Reading resources

Hearing words spoken aloud can expose children to a range of new vocabulary and phrases that they may not have heard otherwise. By reading to a child daily or listening to an audio book, they'll learn new words every single day.

All children's audiobooks and stories are available for free while schools are closed. They can be streamed on a desktop, laptop, phone or tablet. Suitable from early years foundation stage to key stage 2 and no registration required

The following website has a good variety of reading books for children from Reception to Year 6.

<https://home.oxfordowl.co.uk/reading/free-ebooks/>including eBooks from Read Write Inc., Oxford Reading Tree, and Project X Alien Adventures. All the eBooks are free to use, but you will need to register or log in. Please note these eBooks are best viewed on a computer, laptop, or tablet.
