Dear families,

Re: Launch of the new Wimbledon Chase Primary School website

I am pleased to announce the launch of our new Wimbledon Chase Primary School website.

We place considerable value on the feedback provided by parents and carers regarding our communication with families, with particular emphasis on the accessibility, usability and content of our website. Your feedback has been instrumental in informing the development of the new site and has directly influenced both its design and content, ensuring that it better reflects the information our school community needs and the ways in which families access it.

The redesigned website, we hope, provides a clearer, more accessible and comprehensive source of information about school life. It brings together key information in a more coherent and intuitive format, including school news and events, term dates, curriculum overviews, pupil support and wellbeing resources, and practical information relating to attendance, school meals and uniform. There are also dedicated sections for admissions and school policies, alongside an integrated calendar of forthcoming events and direct links to our latest newsletters.

In developing the new website, we have also given careful consideration to accessibility and ease of use across different devices. The site has been designed to provide a consistent and straightforward experience whether accessed via a mobile phone, tablet or desktop computer.

For quick queries, contact details for members of the school office team are available via the Contact Us page. For more detailed enquiries concerning your child, please continue to contact your child's class teacher or the school office through the established channels.

Thank you for your continued support and, importantly, for the constructive feedback you provide. We hope that the new website will serve as a valuable and accessible resource for our families, making it easier to remain informed about school developments.

Kindest regards

Caroline Gibbins
